picture and are the licensing of ferries in the amendments that you are taking out or are they remaining in the law?

SENATOR HOAGLAND: They are remaining...they continue to be repealed. They remain in the law.

SENATOR NICHOL: Well, now you are aware that we have a ferry in the State of Nebraska? Question mark.

SENATOR HOAGLAND: I understand that there is one up in Senator Hefner's area.

SENATOR NICHOL: You are. Well, what are we going to do about licensing that ferry in your area, Senator Hefner? Are you going to sit there and allow this to be done away with so that your ferry won't be licensed? Don't you think we should leave this bill in effect, or I mean this statute in effect that would allow this ferry to be licensed? It has to be. Senator Hoagland, you are attempting to do away with a section of law that would not allow this ferry to be licensed and I don't think that should be done away with.

SENATOR HOAGLAND: Well, Senator Nichol, it would improve the operation of the free market system if we didn't have to have....unnecessarily regulate those sorts of operations. Now, part of that provision says that ferries can't charge more than ten cents a person, and the ferry that Senator Hefner is talking about is an interstate commerce, so it is not regulated by this particular statute, but if it were we would want to repeal the statutes anyway so it wouldn't be suffering unnecessarily from governmental regulations.

SENATOR NICHOL: Okay. I just don't think that we have had enough information on the repealing of all these statutes without a little more information.

SENATOR HOAGLAND: Well, Senator Nichol, that came through your committee, by the way, and you voted it out of committee as I understand.

SENATOR NICHOL: Yes, but every once in a while I make a mistake and this was one of the times.

SPEAKER MARVEL: Senator Reutzel. The question has been called for. Do I see five hands? Five tired hands. I still don't see....okay, all those in favor of ceasing debate vote aye, opposed no. Have you all voted? Okay. All right, record.
